MARCH 5, 1973 INDIANAPOLIS RADIO CLUB, INC.

ISSUE NO. 4

FRIDAY MARCH 9, 1973 PROGRAM MEETING: 8:00 PM

(Rev) Bill McLaughlin, W9GZT, graduate mathematician. "HOW TO BUILD A TRANSMITTER - RECEIVER on a deserted island by using MATH". We should see a lot of examples of how to use math in electronic circuits.

Come see how it's done.....

PROGRAM REVIEW: February 23, the IRC toured the IVY Tech facility at 1315 E. Wash. under the invitation of Mr. Ed McNay (ex WOEXU) After meeting in room 220 which had a full radio set up on two black boards, we were broken into smaller groups and guided thru the Tech School. There are many learning labs for Medical, computer, Welding, out-board motor repair, Refrigeration, furnace repair, Electronics, plus a full range of accounting, clerical and Drafting and associated technical subjects. IVY Tech is the popular name for, Indiana Vocational Technical College, and is one of 13 regional institutes created by the Indiana General Assembly to provide technical training. Ed McNay gave an example of a half wave power supply and some of the service problems encountered with electrolytic capacitors.
